Part B. CV SUMMARY (max. 5000 characters, including spaces)

María José Frápolti is a Logic and Philosophy of Science professor at the Department of Philosophy, University of Granada. She has been Honorary Professor at University College London (UK), from 2018 to 2022, and a Marie Sklodowska-Curie Fellow at the Philosophy Department, University College London (UK) and Oxford University. She has had research stays at Warwick University, the University of Bristol, the University of Helsinki and the University of Miami. From 2006 to 2012, Prof. Frápolti held the presidency of the Spanish branch of the Society of Logic, Methodology and Philosophy of Science, and currently holds the Presidency of the Society for Women in (Analytic) Philosophy, Spanish branch. Her areas of expertise are the philosophy of logic, language, and mathematics, contemporary analytic philosophy, and contemporary pragmatism. Theories of truth is another of her specialities.

Prof. Frápolli has supervised 8 PhD dissertations and is currently supervising six more. She has also supervised tens of Master's and Degree dissertations. She has also been IP of eight financed projects and obtained a Marie Skłodowska-Curie Fellowship of the EU (Grant Agreement No. 653056, European Union's Horizon 2020 Research and Innovation Programme)

As for her experience in research evaluation, she has been an evaluator for the main Spanish research agencies (ANEP, ANECA, UNIBASQ). In ANEP, she was responsible for philosophy in the Arts and Humanities panel from 2006 to 2012. Internationally, she evaluates for FWO Research Agency of the Flanders Region, of which she is the Scientific Chair of the Philosophy and Ethics panel. She also evaluates for the European Commission, in the MSCA programme. She has written four books, edited eight, and published over one hundred scientific papers and book chapters, around a third of them in top scientific journals and publishers.
